WORDS WITH BARK ON

President Seeks to Make Reply So Plain As to Leave No Room for Doubt.

LAW OF NATIONS EMPHASIZED

Belief Expressed in German Quarters That Crisis Has Passed.

Washington, June 6.—President Wilson's note to Germany will be carried to Ambassador Gerard Monday night or early Tuesday, according to word from the White House tonight. The only reason for delay, it was said, was the President's desire to make the phraseology of the note so explicit and unmistakable as to leave no room for doubt or further argument concerning the position of the United States government—that the right of visit and search must be exercised and passengers and crews of unarmed ships on which neutral are voyaging transferred to a place of safety before any prize is destroyed by a belligerent warship.

Officials familiar with the contents of the note said it was a forceful reiteration of the principles expressed by the United States in its note of February 10, when the American government announced that it could not admit the right of the German admiralty's proclamation of a war zone to infringe in any way upon the right of neutrals to travel anywhere on the high seas on peaceful merchantmen, and that the German government would be held to a "strict accountability" for any violation of American rights.

Suggestions were made to the President that the recent note from Germany offering regrets and reparation for the sinking by mistake of the Gulfight be cited in the new note as proof of the American contention that without visit and search the identity of a vessel cannot be established and the lives of neutrals safeguarded. The commander of the German submarine which attacked the Gulfight reported that he did not see the American flag until "the moment of firing the shot." Whether this idea will be included is not known.

The belief is constantly expressed in German quarters that the crisis over the Lusitania case has passed. It is frequently pointed out too, that the present correspondence over neutral rights may lead to a discussion of the general subject of the freedom of the seas and some German officials have suggested that out of the exchange of notes with Germany followed by further correspondence with Great Britain on neutral rights, the way be opened even to the making of peace.

MR. SATURLEY DEAD

Well-Known Citizen Passes Away After Long Illness.

Henry C. Saturley died Sunday morning about 6 o'clock at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. Ed J. Duncan. He had been in declining health for some time, following a stroke of paralysis. Mr. Saturley was a native of England, but had been a resident of this city for a number of years. He was for many years engaged in painting and decorating and was an employe of the Western State Hospital for several years in that capacity.

The deceased was 77 years old and a citizen held in the highest esteem by every one who knew him. He is survived by several children.

His funeral services were held at 10 o'clock yesterday morning at the residence of Mr. Duncan, and the interment was in Riverside Cemetery.

$1,600,000 FOR TOBACCO

Local Market Has Handled 25,000,000 Lbs at Average of $6.34.

ALL PAST RECORDS BROKEN.

And The Season Is Still Holding on With Rushing Business.

Another active week in the tobacco market is expected. The heavy business of last week as stated Saturday made a new record.

This brings the total loose floor sales for the present season up to 11,737,070 pounds, as against 11,710,230 pounds for the same time last year. This is a surprise, for, with a considerably smaller production this year than last, it was figured that the receipts could not be so large. And the fact that last year's record has been surpassed by the loose floors is incontrovertible evidence that the popularity of this market is still on the increase and that new territory is contributing to it this year over any previous year.

Receipts by the prize houses direct from the farmers have been heavier, both for the week and season than the reports show for the loose floors, it being estimated that the total receipts for the market for the week were not less than 2,200,000 pounds, and for the season to date about 25,000,000 pounds.

The tobacco now coming to market is the remainder of crops and odds and ends, and its quality is not so good as that of a short time back. Then too much of it was in high order from the recent continued wet weather. This all caused an easing off in prices, the week's average being $6.12 per hundred, which for the first time in weeks is less than the season's average, which is $6.34. It is believed that the big rush is now over, and from now on receipts will dwindle rapidly.

Sales of hogshead tobacco were light, being nineteen hogsheads on the open market, for the week, making a total for the year of 548 hogsheads. The Planters' Protective association sold fourteen hogsheads of common leaf at $7 to $8.50.

E. M. FLACK FOREMAN

Grand Jury Empaneled And Will Get Down To Work To-day.

JUDGE HANBERY ON BENCH.

Circuit Court Held Brief Session And Adjourned For Speaking.

Judge J. T. Hanbery called the June term of Circuit court to order yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. His desk was ornamented with a large vase filled with a gorgeous collection of gladioli and Judge Hanbery was the picture of health. Only a small crowd was present, as no business was set for Monday except the making up of the grand jury.

This was taken up at once and the following jury empaneled:

E. M. Flack, foreman; J. S. Quarles, W. T. Dougherty, J. C. East, J. W. Jenkins, T. K. Cushman, C. A. Warren, E. E. Lacy, J. T. Layne, Wallace Bennett, Jesse Brandon and C. M. Keatts.

Judge Hanbery gave the regular charge to the jury, declining to excuse one or two who asked to be relieved, but said he would consider their requests later and relieve those whose business was liable to suffer by their absence.

The petit juries will not be made up until to-day and court adjourned to give the court house to Hon. H. V. McChesney in the afternoon, who was billed for a speech.

The present term of court is for four weeks and the grand jury will have much to do. There are now 39 prisoners in the county jail and many persons are out on bonds, awaiting the results of investigations by the grand jury. Of those in jail, some are serving out lower court sentences, but many are held on grand jury charges.

SOCIAL FUNCTION

Mrs. E. C. Major Elegantly Entertained Number of Friends.

Mrs. Edward C. Major entertained a large number of her friends Friday afternoon from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock and the social event proved one of the most enjoyable of the season. About one hundred guests called during the afternoon. The house was handsomely decorated with fresh flowers and the color scheme, pink and white, was carried out to perfection. Simpson's orchestra furnished the music. The dining room was presided over by Mrs. Isaac Major, Mrs. Mary Wall and Misses Frances Lander, Nancy Boyd, Bernice Parker, Ethel Golladay and Elizabeth Daniel. The guests were met in the hall by Mesdames Geo. N. Duffer, H. M. Dalton, J. T. McReynolds and W. H. Terry. Mesdames Edward C. Major, Geo. E. Gary, W. A. Radford, C. M. Thompson, W. H. Forbes, F. P. Thomas, H. W. Linton and Misses Annie Forbes and Mary Starling were in the receiving line. Mrs. M. H. Tandy and Miss Addie Belle Gary, Ruth Major, Martha Gray and Nora Golladay assisted at the punch bowl, while Mrs. T. L. Morrow and Mrs. M. H. Boyd assisted in the hall. A delicious course was served.

PRESSING THE TURKS

Allies Capture Two Lines of Trenches Along Front of Nearly Three Miles.

RUSSIANS NOT WHIPPED YET.

In Two Battles Contesting Every Inch of Road to the Galician Capital.

London, June 7.—The allies in their offensive on the Gallipoli peninsula on June 4 captured and held two lines of Turkish trenches along a front of nearly three miles. In Mesopotamia the British forces have received from the Turks the surrender of Amara and taken more than 2,000 prisoners, thirteen guns, a gunboat, barges and steamers. The pursuit of the Turks who were dispersed into the marshes continues. As in all trench warfare, the allies found their general advance on the Gallipoli peninsula hindered through the inability of part of their force to penetrate wire entanglements which artillery fire had not sufficiently destroyed. This left other sections of the force open to an enfilading fire, and therefore part of the ground gained had to be given up. Some also was lost when the Turks counter attacked.

A gain of 500 yards on a front of three miles in this sort of fighting, however, is considered satisfactory by the British, particularly as it induced the Turks to counter attack, in which they suffered heavy losses.

Two battles are in progress in Galicia. The Russians have made a considerable advance on the lower reaches of the San and have driven the Austro-Germans back to the Leng river; while to the southwest of Lemberg the Austro-Germans are advancing, although the Russians are contesting every inch of the roads to the Galicia capital, which is the objective of the Teutonic allies.

The region north of Arras remains the interesting point on the western front. Here the French claim to have gained more ground, and, according to their report, have repulsed violent German counter attacks. The Germans assert they have repulsed French attacks.

The first important battle of the Italian campaign is raging for possession of Tolmino, where the Italians have met with the first serious opposition in their advance across the Austrian frontier.

Italian warships have been destroying cables and lighthouses in the Adriatic and again have bombarded Monfalcone. There also has been some naval activity in the Baltic, Russian and German squadrons exchanging shots in the vicinity of the Gulf of Riga.

Rumania is going through a crisis similar to that experienced by Italy before the latter country entered the war. Those who favor neutrality and those who favor war held counter demonstrations at Bucharest where political parties are getting in shape to put forward their views. The general opinion in London is that Rumania will join the allies when Italy gives the word and that Bulgaria will follow her lead.

With the king of Greece suffering a relapse and in a serious condition, no immediate change in the attitude of that country is expected.

RHEA—Judge Jno. S. Rhea is to have an opponent after all in his race for re-nomination as Circuit Judge. Joe Standard, of Elkton, has concluded to try him a round.

ALLENSWORTH—Among the large number of candidates who qualified for places on the ballot last week was James B. Allensworth, of this city, who seeks the Democratic nomination for Commonwealth's Attorney.

HAGER—The Drummer Candidate for State Treasurer, Frank P. Hager, of Paintsville, Ky., was in town yesterday shaking hands with voters on an average of two a minute. Mr. Hager is a cousin of Judge S. W. Hager, of Owensboro, and is a hustler from a way back.

KEENON—Rodman Keenon, a member of the Democratic State Central Committee, has announced his candidacy for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, a race in which Alvin Steger was the only candidate. By-the-way, Mr. Keenon, how did you say you stood on the question of calling a platform convention?

LONG—President Wm. A. Long, of the Board of Trustees of the Hopkinsville Public Schools, is widely known as a champion gum-chewer. He will no doubt be deeply interested in the statistical information just given out, that the annual consumption of gum in the United States is 5,000,000,000 pieces.

MCCHESNEY—Hon. H. V. McChesney is Superintendent of the Baptist Sunday school at Frankfort and attended Sunday school and preaching at the First Baptist church here Sunday. He made a few remarks to the Sunday school, expressing his pleasure at being present. Mr. McChesney was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Chiles Sunday.

COOK—Robt. A. Cook, the Republican candidate for representative from Christian county, has no opposition within his own party and the indications are that he will have no Democratic opponent. Mr. Cook is understood to be opposed to statewide prohibition, a question that the Legislature may be called upon to deal with. The unopposed race of Mr. Cook would seem to indicate that this question will not be made an issue in this county.

HENRY—Several of the Morgan sight-seers last week had something to say about "Count" A. M. Henry's methods for combating dry conditions at his fine farm near Newstead. This recalls the fact that a Bourbon county Kentuckian is at the head of the irrigation work in Peru as indicated by the following dispatch from Paris, Ky.: "Mrs. H. Clay Howard, of this city, wife of the Hon. H. Clay Howard, former United States Minister to Peru, has received a letter from her husband announcing his safe arrival in New York. Mr. Howard was appointed Minister to Peru by President Taft. Upon the completion of his term of office and after his return to Kentucky, Mr. Howard was engaged by Breitung & Co., Limited, of New York, to return to Peru and open negotiations with the Peruvian Government for a concession of an immense tract of land for irrigation purposes. The soil is said to be extremely fertile, but owing to the almost entire absence of rain in that particular locality it cannot be tilled without irrigation."

Rumpus at Annapolis.

Secretary Daniels, with the approval of President Wilson, has appointed a court of inquiry to investigate the charges that seven Annapolis midshipmen received advance information on examinations. The seven midshipmen under specific charges are Ralph McK. Nelson, Jr., of New York; Chaplin Evans, of Virginia; Stuart Hamilton, of Connecticut; Leonard P. Wessels, of North Carolina; Donald E. Duncan, of Michigan; Thomas W. Harrison, Jr., of Virginia, and James E. Moss, of Maryland.

The British steamer Inkum, from New York to London, was torpedoed at 4:30 o'clock Friday morning 43 miles southwest of Lizard Head. The crew was landed at Falmouth by the Norwegian steamer Wendia.

Muller, one of the Germans arrested as a spy with Kuepferle, who committed suicide in a London prison, has been sentenced to death. Hahn, the other one, was given a sentence of seven years penal servitude.

The Danish steamer Cyrus, with a cargo of coal, from Burnt Island, Scotland, for Copenhagen, was torpedoed Friday afternoon. The crew were all landed by a Norwegian steamer at Stavanger. They say the Cyrus was torpedoed without warning.

There are three announced candidates for mayor of Paducah. They are Commissioner Frank N. Burns, of the department of public safety, Mr. Ernest Lackey, former president of the board of aldermen, and Mr. D. A. Yeiser, former mayor of the city under the old charter.

There are four candidates for Lieutenant Governor and so far as seen not one of them feels called upon to take stand on questions outside of the Democratic platform principles. They are Jas. D. Black, of Barbourville; N. W. Uttey, of Eddyville; W. A. Byron, of Brooksville and L. W. Gaines, of Trenton.

With the fall of Pzemysl—although this does not appear to be the end of their effort against the Russians in Galicia—the Germans have again turned their attention to the west and simultaneously with the news of the arrival of German reinforcements in Flanders and the province of Artois, France, come official reports of their attacks on positions recently captured by the British and French.

The Kentuckian desires to be perfectly fair with Mr. McChesney on the boycott issue he is alleged to have raised. He was charged with advocating a boycott of newspapers that did not agree with him on statewide prohibition. He entered a denial, which the Kentuckian published, saying he discussed the advertising question. Here is the Ballard County Yeoman's account of one of Mr. McChesney's speeches in that county. "His speech was wholly along lines of prohibition and no political questions were touched. He made practically the same old prohibition speech that we have been hearing for the last decade, and branded everybody that was not for him a liquor advocate and intimated that his opponents and their following are controlled by the liquor people, insinuating that every man who says he is against him and for prohibition is a liar. He also devoted quite a lot of time to criticizing the press of the state, and accused all, little, old and young, of being dominated by the liquor interests because they are not supporting him for governor. He says they publish liquor advertising and are supporting the liquor interests." This report does not say that Mr. McChesney advocated a boycott of the press. It is to be hoped that he did not do so. It is a great pity that his exact language was not reported. No man who advocates a boycott of the press for any purpose is worthy of the votes of newspaper men. A newspaper that allows itself to be subsidized by either side in political, business or factional matters is unworthy of the support of the public.

CREDIT THIS TO "DRUMMERS"

Knights of the Road Put Up Shrewd Scheme to Aid Widow in Dire Situation.

"That the drummer is the right sort of chap was demonstrated to me today," said a Pittsburger. "Coming in on the train was a widow woman with three kids. From the amount of her drapery she had on I guess her husband had just died and left her a gum tree. You could tell she had seen good, easy times, but maybe there was some neglect about insurance. What with the kids and other reasons you could see she was nervous about this traveling. Anyhow, we hadn't gone far before the conductor found out that she was on the wrong train. Then she broke down, but she was as proud as a well-bred woman could be. It didn't take the drummers—there were six of them—long to find out that she was so badly fixed that she had spent her last dollar on tickets and was like to be stranded with the kids in a place where she didn't want to land. The drummers wanted to help her, but they didn't know how to go about it; she was so darned reserved that no one had the nerve to offer to pull her out. But finally they got in the smoke room and figured out the thing on a time table. They all chipped in and then called in the conductor. He was the right sort of a fellow. The way he done it was fine. He walked back to the lady with a thoughtful air and said he had telegraphed to New York and had had the tickets changed. To see that woman's face would have done you good."

Wiping Out the Rat.

Unity has had from time to time disrespectful words for the cat, the animal of the wild that has suffered degeneracy by domestication, but we are anxious to give the cat its due, and a writer in the Farm and Fireside declares that a good cat is a more successful enemy to rats than all the traps available. But the government experience with rats and rat catching would indicate that this pestilence carrier, this wasteful destroyer of property cannot be exterminated by cats. Buildings can be made rat proof and towns can be rid of rats. Perhaps civilization will eventually be able to free itself from this devastator of wealth and destroyer of health, but it will require concerted action under scientific direction. Rats represent another "national problem."—Unity.

Covered with white from head to foot, the prisoner looked like a snow man.

"With what is this man charged?" asked the court.

"I saw a white cloud," replied Officer 666, "and I thought he was trying to blow up a building."

"What have you to say for yourself?"

For answer the prisoner puffed out a little white cloud and coughed up enough flour to make a hatch of his culs.

"Can't you speak?"

A negative shake of the man's head sent flour into the atmosphere like hair from a woolly dog.

"Are you a haker?"

This time the man managed to mumble a half-smothered "No."

"Then what on earth are you?"

After several false starts the prisoner finally blurted:

"Bill poster."

"Did you fall into a flour bin?"

Rubbing his face until a dusky skin began to show through its white coating, the prisoner explained:

"No, sah. When I run out on paste dis maw'nin', I filled a hucket wif flour an' went across de street, where I saw a big hose by de side ob a building. I put de nozzle ob de hose into de hucket, but at first de handle wouldn't turn. I gabe one big twist. an'-an' den it happened!"

"What happened?"

SONG OF THE NIGHTINGALE

One Need Not Go Far From the Haunts of Man to Hear Bird's Sweet Strains.

One of our great American naturalists once went to England in hope to hear the nightingale. Although he wandered for many miles over Surrey and Hampshire, his search was well-nigh fruitless. Had he gone no farther than the outskirts of London, he might have fared better. There are still certain spots in the suburbs to which the nightingale returns year after year.

One of them is Wimbledon Common, where the bird sings every spring, often, however, quite unrecognized by those who hear him. It is commonly believed that because, as all the world knows, the nightingale sings by night, he keeps silence during the day. Never was delusion more ill-founded. It might be in part accounted for if the bird were of a particularly timid and fearful nature. But he is not; in fact, nightingales are, as a rule, least shy where they are most accustomed to man's presence.

Not only does this much misunderstood bird (some nightingales, of course, more than others) sing at intervals all day long, but he appears at times to take delight in singing to a crowd.

All About?

HAS the whole world gone stark mad over a very foolish and trivial question? Are swords rattling, cannon rumbling, mailed armour glistening just because Russia wanted to show her love for the little brother—Serbia?

Tear aside the curtain of Europe's politics and see the grim and sinister game of chess that is being played. See upon what a slim, yet desperate, excuse the sacred lives of millions may be sacrificed. Read the history of the past one hundred years, as written by one of the greatest authorities the world has ever known, and learn the naked, shameful truth. Just to get you started as a Review of Reviews subscriber, we make you this extraordinary offer. We will give to you

Durry's History of the World

Four splendid cloth volumes, full of portraits, sketches, maps, diagrams

Today is the climax of a hundred years of preparation. Read in this timely, authoritative, complete, AND THE ONLY CONDENSED classic world history—of which over 2,000,000 copies have been sold in France alone—just what has taken place in the inner councils of Europe during the past one hundred years. Read in these entrancing pages how Russia has for years craftily been trying to escape from her darkness—to get a year-round open port, with its economic freedom. Read how Germany and Austria, fearful of the monster's latent strength, have been trying to checkmate her and how they have pinned all in this last, supreme stake.

The Lesson of the Past

THIS master of the pen shows you the story that was Greece's and the grandeur that was Rome's. He guides you through the Middle Ages, the picturesque old days of feudalism and the crusades, through the Renaissance up to contemporary history, which Prof. Greenough completes in brilliant manner. In the story of the past lie the secrets of today. And you will understand the better when you get the Review of Reviews for a year—the Review of Reviews will give you a sane interpretation of the events that are taking place with such rapidity. It is not enough to read the daily news reports. Your ability to comprehend conditions, and to discuss them rationally depends on a true interpretation of the meaning and the "reason why" of events. In your mind you must bring order out of chaos—and the Review of Reviews will do it for you.

BOON TO RUBBER INDUSTRY

Discovery of Value of Coconut Water Will Mean Immense Increase in the Output.

Something of interest to the crude rubber haulers is contained in a recent report received from a consular representative of this country in Ceylon comprising some data about the use of coconut water as a rubber coagulant. This new method, if as successful as experiments would indicate, should prove a great boon to the Ceylon rubber industry. Millions of gallons of coconut water, which now run to waste on estates in copra-drying and desiccation mills, can be utilized as a profitable by-product, besides producing a superior coagulant in making rubber. The possibilities of this new process for Ceylon can be realized when it is stated that in 1913 rubber to the value of about $22,000,000 was exported from Ceylon. Of this amount $5,089,167 went to the United States. Details of the process are not now available, but it is understood that the coconut water is allowed to ferment for four or five days, after which it can be used immediately for coagulating latex. One to two ounces of the fermented liquid will coagulate one pint of pure latex. It is said to produce a better rubber than that procured from the present method of using crude acetic acid, especially so far as color goes, and clearer than that obtained from the cocoa-fermentation acid treatment. Experiments are being carried on to determine how long the liquid will keep and how practicable it will be to transport it from the coconut plantation to the rubber estates.

WAS "TREATED LIKE A COW"

So Writes Suicide in Really Pathetic Note Which He Pins to Apple Tree.

Writing a statement as to why he did not desire to live longer, and pinning the paper to a favorite apple tree in his orchard, Frank X. Skalla, a hotel keeper at Fishers Station, Camden county, Pa., stood beneath the branches and shot himself through the head. Persons in the hotel saw the smoke curling from the clothing of the suicide, the cartridge having ignited his shirt. Coroner Cook found Skalla first shot himself through the body and then the head.

Skalla's message reads: "This is my statement: My wife treats me no better than a cow, and my children no longer love me. My wife makes faces at me, and my children are not kind to me. I am taking this terrible way to get out of it all. There is nothing for me to live for, and I am tired of it all. When my friends are not kind to me I want to die."

There were other lines scrawled on the paper to the same purport, and County Detective Gribben said Skalla was probably mentally unbalanced from real or fancied troubles.

MIXED BLESSING.

A gallant Tommy, having received from England an anonymous gift of socks, entered them at once, for he was about to undertake a heavy march. He was soon prey to the most excruciating agony, and when, a mere cripple, he drew off his footgear at the end of a terrible day, he discovered inside the toe of the sock what had once been a piece of stiff writing paper, now reduced to pulp, and on it appeared in bold, feminine hand the almost illegible benediction, "God bless the wearer of this pair of socks!"—Punch.

THE UNEXPECTED.

Hobo—Say, gimme a dime for a bite to eat?
Smart Citizen—Can you change a twenty?—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

USUAL WAY.

Rankin—Beanbrough has applied for an assistant.
Phyle—What for?
Rankin—To do all the work.

HIS QUALITY.

"I wonder who first discovered the use of the nutmeg."
"Evidently somebody with a grate mind."

HORRIBLE.

Eloise—Florine strained her voice yesterday.
Jack—How?
Eloise—Talking through her veil.

NEVER ACQUIRED WITH EASE

Talent Requires Cultivation That Can Only Be Enjoyed by Those Who Pay the Price.

Persons with no apparent talent often look on the talented as fortunate folk who, by some favor of the gods, live easily and charmingly—drifting down a sunlit and flower-bordered stream. They are unaware of all that it costs in self-sacrifice, in resistance to temptations from within and without, and in hard and persistent labor, to bring a talent to anything approaching maturity. It is not possible to secure statistics on dead talents; but if it were it would be found that some 90 per cent perish. This is because of the lack of character in those who possess them. Talent calls for iron purpose; it is not a self-perfecting thing. An almost grim obstinacy is required from the outset if it is to be cultivated—urged on from flower to fruit, from ripening to harvest. Parents, friends, the conventions—even reason itself—may be its natural foes. He—or she—who can save a talent alive, yet pay all the debts of affection, must be possessed not only of a clear and creative mind, but of a brave, abounding and magnanimous spirit as well—a spirit austere beneath its gentleness. Character, and character alone, can save a talent to the end.

CLAIMS RIGHT TO FEEL MEAN

Mr. J. Fuller Gloom Makes Public the Fact That He Is Never a Candidate for Sympathy.

"Nobody infuriates me more," snarled J. Fuller Gloom, the well-known misanthrope, "than the sunny soul who drops in to sit and cheer me up when I am lonesome. Confound it! there are times when I like to be lonesome! If I enjoy burying my head in a cloud of melancholy and cursing the day I was born, isn't it my privilege to do so, without having some sympathetic boob roll up the shutters of my despondency and show me that there are others a great deal worse off than I am?"

"If my breakfast has disagreed with me, and a business matter of mine is threatening to turn out badly, and the world is growing worse every minute, and this is bound to be the most unhealthy season we have had in years, and the party in power is composed exclusively of knaves and fools, and there is a literal hell, and the fruit crop is killed, and that infernal idiot of a son-in-law of mine has turned out just as I expected he would, and times are sure to grow harder instead of easier, and—well, when I have a good old-fashioned attack of spring fever, I want it understood that I have a right to feel as mean and miserable as I please, and am deserving of no sympathy whatsoever!"—Kansas City Star.

HEAD BROADENED

Hewitt—Do you think that marriage broadens a man's mind?
Jewett—Well, I have known a man to have his head flattened out by his wife's rolling pin.

HAD AN OFFICE IN NEW YORK.

I was told that the commanding general was busy for a moment, and so we were shown into a classroom by an Austrian ordinance officer named Theodore Sternberz. His English was so perfect that it was noticeable even where all of the officers spoke it so well. Later, when I took a picture of him hammering away at an American typewriter, I asked him to give me a permanent address to which I could send the photograph, and was rather surprised when he gave me his office address at a number on Union square, in New York.—J. F. J. Archibald, in Scribner's Magazine.

WOULD BRING HIM IN MIND.

HER SOLE AMBITION.

"Do you want to marry your employer?"

"Oh, no! I only want to be a sister to him."

QUITE DIFFERENT.

"Your visitor's figure is quite attenuated, Mrs. Comeup."

"Do you think so. I'd call her thin."

Could Not Write.

Versailles, Ky.—Mrs. Ellsha Green of this place, says: "I could not write all the different pains I had when I first tried Cardul. I could scarcely walk. Now I am able to run the sewing machine and do my work; and my neighbors tell me the medicine must be good, for I look so much better." Cardul is a specific, pain relieving, tonic remedy for women. In the past 50 years, it has been found to relieve women's unnecessary pains, and female misery, for which over a million suffering women have successfully used it. Try Cardul for your troubles. It will help you. At the nearest drug store.—Advertisement.

Advice to Readers.

Very ready are we to say of a book, "How good this is—that's exactly what I think!" But the right feeling is "How strange that I never thought of that before, and yet I see it is true, or if I do not now, I hope I shall some day." But whether thus submissively or not, at least be sure that you go to the author to get his meaning, not to find yours. Judge it afterward if you think yourself qualified to do so; but ascertain it first. And be sure also, if the author is worth anything, that you will not get at his meaning all at once; nay at his whole meaning you will not for a long time arrive in any wise.—Ruskin.

POCKET FLASHLIGHT.

Made compactly in the form of a fountain pen, a miniature electric flashlight has been devised which may be carried in a vest pocket as conveniently as a pen or pencil. So far as external appearance is concerned, says Popular Mechanics, it consists of a barrel, cap and clip. In the end of the tube there is a small electric bulb, and in the cap a battery. The clip serves the double purpose of holding the device in a pocket and acting as the contact point.

A TIME TO BUILD CHEAP

It's An Ill-Wind That Blows
Nobody Good.

The European War has shut off practically all export demand for lumber. This naturally depresses the price. As a consequence nearly every character of lumber, and other building material, is lower than for many years.

If you need a house, you will save money to build it now. Not only is lumber cheap, but contractors are not busy now, as they will be in the fall. If you can't get plans made anywhere else, we will make them for you, and name you a low price on your building. We are anxious for work, our men need it.

We mean business and our prices will convince you of the truth of the above statement. We will help you decide upon the arrangement of your house if you desire. Don't lose any time, for as soon as peace is declared, up go prices. Come at once and talk the matter over with us.

UNDER A WAR STAMP

By ELSIE GRUHL MARTIN.

(Copyright, 1915, by W. G. Chapman.)
Every time Earl Hosmer thought of the fair young girl with whom and her father he had passed a pleasant month abroad, his heart stirred within him. They had been nothing more than friends, but she had made the impression of his life upon him. A thought of how genial and friendly the father and daughter had been to him, of their present distressing condition, of their friendlessness and poverty in a foreign land, appealed to the best instincts of his loyal nature.

They were wealthy people, the Durivages, but Earl as well had an abundance of worldly means. He had a business to attend to, and going abroad just now meant something serious for its interests, but he was willing to make the sacrifice.

When Earl reached his office he sat down to think out his plans for an immediate departure. While he was arranging in his mind all the details, the office boy brought in the afternoon mail. Earl flipped the letters over carelessly. Then his face flushed up and his eyes took to their depths a rare token of interest. From postmark and handwriting he knew at once the source of one of the letters.

"It is from Elsa—from Miss Durivage!" he breathed eagerly, and opened it.

The letter was a brief, ordinary missive, as if written between acquaintances. It gave an address in the far away war-beleaguered city. It told of business there going on as usual, of no particular effect of the war. There was nothing in the letter that would not pass the most critical censorship.

There was a postscript to the letter and it greatly puzzled Earl. It read: "The war stamp on this letter is probably quite a curiosity in America. You might soak it off, for they will be scarce after a while, and it is quite a memento to preserve."

"Of course, I will save it," murmured the ardent Earl, thinking of the dainty lips that had touched the insensible piece of paper, and he proceeded to follow instructions.

"Why—there is writing under the stamp!" exclaimed Earl, and with distending eyes he read the words: "We are penniless and starving."

In a flash Earl Hosmer read the oracle. The letter had been written in a noncommittal way that had passed with the censor. Elsa had used the war stamp to conceal a message telling of the real situation in the district from which she wrote.

It required no further thought for Earl to arrive at a speedy decision. The evening train bore him eastward, and two days later he was on the ocean, bound for the continental war center.

Within two hundred miles of the city that held his beloved, the progress of the ardent Earl was blocked. He had with him a large amount in ready cash. This had enabled him to proceed thus far without much difficulty. Now a broad stretch of disputed and war-ravaged territory lay between him and his prospective destination.

It was through a little child that a long, anxious waiting was brought to a close. Passing a house wrecked by a shell in the little town where he was staying, Earl heard a faint wailing voice. He investigated, to discover a little four-year-old girl lying ten feet down in the dismantled cellar where she had fallen.

Her arm was broken, she was well nigh exhausted with cold and starvation. He managed to learn from her where she lived. When he restored her to her frantic parents he found that she had been missing for two days.

The gratitude of the poor parents was genuine. The father chanced to mention that he was one of some fifty wagon men who were to carry some wounded soldiers to the city where the Durivages were. He was to bring up the rear with five days' provisions. It did not take Earl long to decide that here was his opportunity to reach his beloved.

He had an understanding with the man. When the caravan set out Earl was comfortably ensconced in a shielded corner of the enclosed wagon. How his heart beat with suspense and then sorrow as he finally reached his journey's end! The Durivages were sheltered in a poor hovel and had parted with all they possessed to secure the bare necessities of life.

The wagon man was to return to neutral ground with his vehicle, and Earl and the Durivages were smuggled through in his vehicle.

"To think of that dreadful past!" murmured Elsa, as they set sail from the coast, homeward bound at last. "Oh, what a messenger of joy and hope you have been!"

A messenger of love as well. The moon was smiling down, the stars twinkled, the gentle breeze breathed only of peace. He told her all that was in his heart, and she kissed the lips that spoke those precious words.

He Was Surprised.

"You learn much by travel."

"How now?"

"The streets of Boston surprised me. They are just like the streets of other cities."

"Why not?"

"I thought streets in Boston had Latin and Greek names."

SPUR OF OTHERS' GOOD WORK

Admiration of Talent One Does Not Possess Keeps Up Mental and Spiritual Activity.

It seems a strange part of our human nature that we so often admire most the talent we do not possess, remarks the Milwaukee Journal. The singer thinks no art so great as painting; the painter may put the highest value on literary ability, while the author's ideal may be architecture. Yet this is undoubtedly a wise provision of nature tending to our growth. If we never saw anything beyond our present attainments, something to which we would fain reach out, we should live in grooves. The ruts in our life would be so deep there would be no getting out of them to the free spaces. People would grow away from each other; the social life would lose its flavor. It is seeing things to admire in others that keeps up our mental and spiritual activity. The life of a hermit does not really tend either to holiness or progress; it is not a life of usefulness. In such seclusion one may win a certain sort of content, but it is the content of a living death.

We need to see things beyond our present reach to make us strive. We need the spur of others' good work to keep us to our best.

Radnor Travel Club.

For the benefit of some who do not understand the itinerary of Mrs. P. E. West's Radnor Club, I am giving route in full and will say that if you are going West any time this year, it will be better to enroll before June 15th as the two extra side trips to Pike's Peak and Crystal Park will be free. The party increases daily in number and in interest. A very congenial party is being enrolled. Others are cordially invited to join Radnor Travel Club. Business rating above reproach. Itinerary as follows:

From here to Nashville by way of Fulton, St. Louis, Kansas City and Denver. (Automobile tour of Denver, 60 miles ride.) To Colorado Springs, with side trips to Manitou, Cripple Creek, Gold Fields, South Cheyenne Canyon, Seven Falls and to all who enroll before June 15th, Pike's Peak and Crystal Park free. Otherwise they are $5 and $2.50 extra. Enroll now, go any time during the year and you get these lovely trips free.

We have an open observation car through the Royal Gorge over Tenn. Pass through Eagle Canyon and a stop at Glenwood Springs. Three hundred miles of the finest scenery of the Rocky Mountains by day light to Salt Lake City. A tour of the city and a plunge in Great Salt Lake. Six days in San Francisco. Stop at Santa Barbara, Santa Cruz Beach, Nataloview, 30 miles drive from Cartoville to Dei Monte, down the coast in view of the ocean to Los Angeles, side trips from there to Catalina Islands, over the submarine Gardens in glass bottom boat. All of the main beaches are visited, the Missions Ostrich Farm, Pasadena to San Diego and back, thence through the great orange belt; a delightful drive over Riverside and up to the summit of Mt. Rubidraux down Magnolia drive in auto, back through the great Indian reservation of the west, stop at Cheyenne, Wyo., then homeward bound, all for $160. Passage on Pullman sleeper, dining car service, hotel bills, auto drives and in fact everything is included in $160. If you want Yellowstone Park trip for five days with the Hotel Co. it will cost $50 extra and two days at the grand canyon of Arizona will cost $12.50 extra. Let everybody go who possibly can. The educational advantages of such a trip will be worth a year in school to any boy or girl. This is the cheapest and best of six other tours I have investigated. Having made this trip twice already, I feel in a position to champion the boys and girls entrusted to my care. Be sure to enroll before June 15th and call

TRACTOR PLOWING DEMONSTRATION.

The first demonstration of power farming ever held in the central west will be given at St. Louis, Mo., on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, June 23rd, 24th and 25th, next. This will be a practical exhibition of plowing by modern, up-to-date tractors, pulling power-lift plows of two, three and four bottoms. The demonstration is being promoted by the implement jobbing and branch houses of St. Louis, without profit, and without any charge to anyone. The sole object of the demonstration is to better educate the farmers in the central west in the profitable use of small tractors upon the farms.

A farm of 600 acres has been secured for the plowing exhibitions. The farm is 25 minutes ride from St. Louis by electric railway. Cars will stop at the farm, both to let off and take on passengers. Plowing will start at 10 o'clock each day of the show, taking an hour for dinner, and closing for the day at 7 o'clock. The dates named will allow any farmer or dealer interested an opportunity to clean up his work, spend a few days at the show, and return home before Saturday.

Eight firms have entered small farm tractors, as follows: Wallis Tractor Co., Cleveland, O.; Peoria Tractor Co., Peoria, Ill.; Bull Tractor Co., Minneapolis, Minn.; J. I. Case Threshing Machine Co., Racine, Wis.; Avery Co., Peoria, Ill.; Waterloo Gasoline Engine Co., Waterloo, Ia.; International Harvester Co., Chicago, Ill.; and Emerson-Brantingham Co., Rockford, Ill. It is probable that the other concerns will enter their tractors in numbers to bring the list up to a dozen or more.

The following companies have entered plows: J. I. Case Plow Co., St. Louis branch; Parlin & Orendorff Plow Co., St. Louis branch; Oliver Chilled Plow Works, St. Louis branch; John Deere Plow Co., St. Louis; Missouri Moline Plow Co., St. Louis.

William Niehaus, banker and leading implement dealer, of Collinsville, Ill., will be field marshal and has complete charge of allotting the space to be used by the tractors. Jitneys Money Makers.

Daily receipts of the jitney cars in Nashville are roughly estimated by jitney enthusiasts at $1,200, which is earned by 108 cars, according to city license lists. The expenses of the cars are estimated at $8 each daily. The sum includes gasoline, cost of bond, wages of chauffeur and all incidental expenses, such as wear and tear on the cars and insurance. The jitney bus came to Nashville only a few weeks ago. The new mode of transportation, supplanting even ships for novelty, progressed slowly for several weeks. Within the last two weeks the city has issued scores of licenses weekly. Now the cars patrol every section of the city, running almost as far as street car lines in some instances.—Tennessean.

CANDIDATES FOR HALL OF FAME NAMED.

Seventeen names of famous Americans, out of more than 200 nominated by the general public, have been selected as candidates for the five tablets inscribed every five years in the Hall of Fame of New York university. They were chosen by the one hundred electors appointed quinquennially to render final decision in the matter and who will choose the ultimate five in September. They are as follows:

Francis Parkman, author; Mark Hopkins, educator; Alice Freeman Palmer, teacher; Horace Bushnell, preacher and theologian; Joseph Henry, Benjamin Thompson and Louis Agassiz, scientists; George Rogers Clark, Nathaniel Greene and Thomas J. Jackson, soldiers; Rufus Choate and Thomas McIntyre Cooley, jurists; Samuel Adams, Patrick Henry, John Jay and Alexander Hamilton, statesmen; Charlotte Saunders Cushman, actress.

Never Deceive an Animal.

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside appears the following advice as to the training of animals:

"You can never train a colt, a calf, or any animal, wild or tame, unless you gain its entire confidence and affection. To do this you must never deceive it, not even for fun, and always protect it and show that you love it."

"The way to a man's heart is through his stomach, and the road to the affection of an animal is by way of its taste."

"An apple, a bit of tender grass, or some tasty bit will soon make friends with it, and kind words and petting will make it a loving and obedient friend."

NATIVE OF CHRISTIAN

David Myers Dies at Home in State of Idaho Last Friday.

D. F. Myers, a native of this county, died last Friday at his home in Pocatello, Idaho. Mr. Myers was reared in North Christian and was 60 years old. He moved to Idaho about 15 years ago and had since been engaged in farming. He is survived by his wife, who was formerly Miss Ezell, of this county, and three children, also two brothers, H. C. and S. T. Myers, and three sisters, Mesdames S. T. Fruit, Eva Boyd and H. T. Fruit, all of this county. Mr. Myers' death was caused from heart trouble.

Rural Carrier Examination.

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for the County of Christian, Kentucky, to be held at Hopkinsville on July 10, 1915, to fill the position of rural carrier at Herndon, and vacancies that may later occur on rural routes from other post offices in the above mentioned county. The examination will be open only to male citizens who are actually domiciled in the territory of a post office in the county and who meet the other requirements set forth in Form No. 1977. This form and application blanks may be obtained from the offices mentioned above or from the United States Civil Service Commission at Washington, D. C. Application should be forwarded to the Commission at Washington at the earliest practicable date.

Quiet Shoes.

To make nice sick-room shoes in which you can step about softly, out from old felt hats sole and heel pieces. Glue these on and you have a quieter shoe than those sold as nurses' shoes. The patten of little feet, so hard on some people's nerves, is easily deadened by the same method, also helping to keep the little feet warm when playing on a cold floor.

THE PRINCETON LYNCHING.

The Victim Was Caught in This City.

Princeton, June 4.—Arthur Bell, a negro was taken from the county jail here last Friday night by a mob of masked men and taken to city limits in East Princeton and hanged. Bell was arrested at Hopkinsville last Saturday and brought to jail here on a charge of having broken into the home of K. R. Cummins, candidate for the Democratic nomination for representative, and stealing several valuable articles. After being placed in jail here, Mrs. B. Brandon, who lives two miles east of Princeton, came to the jail and identified him as the negro who attempted to assault her last Friday morning. The mob consisted of about 40 men and they went to the jail and demanded that the jailer open the doors and show them Arthur Bell, which he did. Bell gave his home as Clarksville, Tenn.

Russian official reports do not attach great importance to the fall of Przemyśl. This report is made: Russians troops on the fronts to the north and west of the fortress of Przemyśl evacuated their positions Wednesday night after all the war materials taken from the Austrians had been removed. It is explained that after the capture of Jaroslau and Radym, by the Austro-German forces they began to spread along the west bank of the San making the defense of Przemyśl a difficult task. The Russians contend they realized from the first that Przemyśl was incapable of defending itself and they remained there only as long as it served their purpose. The positions occupied around Przemyśl extended the Russian front by about 24 miles and the troops occupying them were exposed to a concentrated artillery fire.

NEW ORDINANCE

To Fine Dog Owners and Kill Untagged Dogs.

The Council met in regular session Friday night. The only matter of interest brought up was the passage on its first reading of an ordinance providing a new dog tax law, imposing a fine of $1 a day on the owner who does not pay the dog tax and providing that untagged dogs may be killed. It is said the Court of Appeals has upheld such a law in Lexington.

Encouraging Emigration.

POULTRY HOUSES

Useful Suggestions Free By U. S. Department Director.

To the Editor:—Will you please publish the following for the benefit of the poultry raisers in your county:

As a representative of the Poultry Investigative Division of the United States Department of Agriculture, I travel over miles and miles of territory in this state, and from the car windows I see many new poultry houses just completed or in course of construction. A great majority of these are totally unfit for the housing of poultry.

There is little excuse for this state of affairs, as the Poultry Department at Washington, and that department of your State Agricultural College are prepared to furnish information regarding the construction of simple, practical and up-to-date poultry houses.

If there is any farmer in this county who is thinking of building a new poultry house or remodeling an old one and desires such information, write to me in care of the Agricultural Experiment Station, Lexington, Kentucky. Yours very truly,

H. W. RICKEY,
State Director Poultry Club Work.

DEFECT OF MODERN TIMES

Nations Mobilize for War, but Fail to See the Necessity for Same Thing in Peace.

Here, then, is the sorry contrast between mobilization for war and the lack of it in peace, writes Graham Taylor in the Survey. Under the urgency of war the nation instinctively feels that the strength of all is impaired by the weakness of any, that its whole resource is available to conserve every vital force, that as each individual and class is needed by all, so all that the nation has is available for each.

The difference between the two experiences lies in the presence or absence of a national consciousness and resourcefulness in meeting national emergencies. In peace we have not become conscious that unemployment is a national emergency, to be met only by the concern and resources of the whole nation. In America the emergency is still thoughtlessly and unjustly left to the individual, the family, the locality and the class suffering most from it, to grapple with. Even they delay so late to do so that they can have recourse only to charity, seldom to justice; only to relief, never to prevention; only to recovery from disastrous effects, not to dealing with causes of disaster.

REMOVING COLOR FROM OIL

Various Processes Through Which the Product of the Cottonseed Must Be Put.

Oil is squeezed from the cottonseed. This oil comes to the packeries in its crude or raw form. It is very dark—so dark that one cannot see through a glass pint bottle of it.
This oil is placed in a large iron tank in which are placed a number of iron pipes. Through these steam is sent, which heats the oil to nearly a boiling stage. The oil is sent whirling about the tank for a time and then the agitation is stopped and the steam shut off. Quickly a precipitation of all solids takes place and the pure oil remains at the top.
This is drawn off and a process of deodorizing takes place through the agency of applied heat. This is done to remove all vegetable smell and is a further step in purification. If the product is intended for the olive oil trade it is dripped through fuller's earth. Each process removes color.
After deodorization it becomes a light amber color. After the fuller's earth process it may be called a white oil with orange effect.

CANAL EVENTUALLY SALT.

Although the Chagres lake, formed by the damming of the Chagres river, is 85 feet above sea level and is supplied by fresh water from the Panama hills and the natural Miraflores lake is about sixty feet above the sea and supplied by fresh water streams, it is expected that in time the entire canal, with the water in the locks, will become salt. This will be due to hydraulic action. Even now the Miraflores lake has become brackish and the water there has become unfit for use in the water supply that was planned in connection with it. Little by little the salt water at the canal entrances is mixing with the fresh water of the canal, and this mixing of waters, though gradual, will be constant and persistent.

DUCKS REQUIRE DRY HOUSES

Old and Young Fowls Should Have Comfortable Place to Sleep In—Dampness Is Disease Breeder.

Ducks, both old and young, should have a dry comfortable place to stay in at night. If forced to sit on the damp ground they are liable to take croup and cold in the head. The latter is almost certain to turn to croup.

Provide suitable houses if you wish to be successful. The houses need not be very expensive but they should be substantial so that they may be used for the same purpose several years in succession.

There is usually some shed or building that can be converted into a duck house at small expense. Where only a small flock is kept this plan is advisable.

If the roof is good the rest is easy.
If the weatherboarding is not sufficiently close to keep out drafts in cold weather, cover the outside with tared paper or strip with lath.

A board floor is better than an earth floor because the ducks will often stir up the ground in a very disagreeable manner where there is the least sign of moisture.

In cold weather ducks should be kept in the house because their feet are so tender that when they come in contact with the cold ground they suffer greatly and hobble along as though their backs were broken. However, they should not be kept housed more than is really necessary.

FEED CHICKENS SOUR MILK

Liberal Supply Mixed With Corn Will Keep Fowls in Healthy and Growing Condition.

(By A. C. SMITH, Minnesota Experiment Station.)

Sour milk is utilized in one of the best possible ways by feeding it to chickens. Those who think that they get greater returns by feeding it to hogs should remember that the flesh of chickens brings at least twice as much on the market as that of hogs.

Milk and corn are both liked by chickens, and a proper mixture of the two makes one of the best and most appetizing rations for the season when the days are warm and the nights cool. For the best results the corn should be cracked and soaked several hours in either sweet or sour skimmed milk or in buttermilk. The corn may be put in pails in the morning and the milk poured on until the top of the corn is submerged two or three inches. When this has been absorbed more should be added at intervals during the day and the mixture will be excellent for feeding by night.

A liberal supply of this ration will keep the chickens growing rapidly and insure their being constantly plump and in excellent condition for the market. Try it once and the fowls will tell you whether they like it. Try it two weeks or a month and they will show you whether it is a good and economical feed.

FOR CARRYING EGGS SAFELY

Oregon Man Invents Frame Divided
Into Plurality of Compartments,
With Flexible Sling.

In illustrating and describing an egg holder, invented by Henry S. Westbrook of Portland, Ore., Scientific American says:

The invention relates to egg holders, and more particularly to a device

Egg Holder.

whereby eggs may be safely held in carrying, shipment, storage, or in otherwise handling the same. It provides a frame divided into a plurality of compartments, each compartment having a flexible egg sling so disposed and held within the frame that the egg carried thereby is prevented from contact either with any portion of the frame or any other egg held thereby.

CAN INVENT NO SUBSTITUTE

Science Not Yet Able to Find Anything to Take Place of Egg—Food Controls Flavor.

To date science has been unable to invent a substitute for the egg. The older the egg, the less is that sweet, rich flavor noticeable.

It is of more importance to know
the average of the flock.

There is nothing in the theory that the "sweet, rich flavor" of the egg belongs to the breed.

That condition is alone brought about by the quality of the food given to the fowls.

DOESN'T ADMIRE "LOWBROW"

Writer in the New Republic Refers to Him in Terms That Are by No Means Complimentary.

The professional lowbrow is a man bent at all costs on preserving what he regards as the masculine integrity of his character. He has a feeling that if he yields once nothing can save him. Let him enjoy "Tristan" with the other highbrows, or reflect upon the quality of his own soul, and before long he will be wearing a wrist watch, spats and a monocle, gazing devotedly upon blue china and carrying lilies as he strolls down Piccadilly. His humor is too biting for such a calamity. How would he explain himself to his friends if he picked wild flowers in a derby hat, or read George Meredith on the train to Newark?

But as a matter of fact the deliberate lowbrow is not "a regular fellow." He wears a self-distorting pose. His careful, artificial avoidance of subtlety and distinction is worlds away from the genuine naivete of simpler people. The slang which is their speech is his affectation. Their whole-hearted pleasures are to him a ritual of city life. He uses his shrewd intelligence to protect himself from complex ideas and careful discriminations. He is at bottom a shirk, afraid of intellectual difficulties, too timid not to be part of a crowd. He is the sycophant of democracy, its fawning, flattering spiritual demagogue.—The New Republic.

THE REAL THING

He—Is that your favorite sport?
She—No, indeed! My favorite "sport" won't be up from the city

WHITE LEGHORNS ARE BEST

Pullet is Quickly Brought to Maturity and Soon Starts Laying—White Eggs in Demand.

"Why are White Leghorns good birds to own?" I would say, that, profit being the aim of the commercial poultryman, the well-bred White Leghorn of good laying strain seems best to meet his need.

The Leghorn pullet is quickly brought to maturity, and if of good strain quickly goes to work for her owner. To be sure, if she is hatched very early she may molt slightly, but she will have laid pretty nearly enough eggs to pay for herself by the time the molt comes, and with proper care she is laying again in a few weeks.

White eggs bring the highest price and are in growing demand. That is a big factor in favor of the Leghorn, writes Temple Smith of Eglantine Farms, Pennsylvania, in Philadelphia Ledger.

We have trap-nest records showing quite a number of our birds laying a hundred, or more than a hundred eggs, within twelve months from date of being hatched. I recall one that laid her one hundredth egg the day she was eleven months old. Such birds are pretty safely and well in the 200-egg class.

Please do not take me as saying that any large flock of layers averages 200 eggs. Nor are all Leghorns even good layers. With Leghorns as with any pure breed, the result depends quite as much on the strain as on the breed, but all the eggs a Leghorn lays are white, hence worth most. So the Leghorn would still lead. Much, too, depends on comfortable housing and proper feeding and attention, whatever breed is kept.

YOUNG CHICKS NEED WARMTH

Utmost Care Should Be Exercised to See That Little Fellows Do Not Get Chilled.

Some incubators have a space around the egg tray for the purpose of letting the newly hatched chicks drop into it, off the tray. If we had an incubator of this kind, we would stuff the opening with flannel rags, or newspapers crushed lightly and arranged to permit circulation of air, and keep the chicks on the warm tray until ready to remove them, says a writer in an exchange. If it becomes overcrowded, better take out the thoroughly dry, first-hatched chicks, into a flannel-lined, warm basket, and close the door quickly.

There is a difference of from five to nine degrees in temperature between the tray and the floor of the nursery. In some machines the floor has openings for ventilation.

Imagine a wet chick tumbling down from a temperature of 103 to 105 degrees, into one of from 90 to 96 degrees. It will fluff out and apparently be all right; but nine times out of ten it will die before the tenth day.

Babies and chicks need warmth; flannel for the chicks is about as necessary as for the babies.

TUBERCULOSIS IN OLD FOWLS

More Likely to Be Affected by Disease Than Young Stock—Make Two Years the Age Limit.

It is found at the North Dakota station, that old chickens are more likely to be affected by tuberculosis than young stock. This is fowl consumption, the disease sometimes called "going light."

Old birds should not be kept anyway. It is recommended that such stock be killed off and only young stock kept, two years being the age limit.

The disease spreads faster among poultry kept in poorly lighted and poorly ventilated houses, as is the case with human beings.

Value of Squashes. Some poultrymen believe in feeding small squashes to give body or bulk to the mashers. They say that this resulting mixture is found very satisfactory, and seems to be particularly palatable not only for fowls, but also for dogs and cats.

DIET FOR THE BRAIN-WORKER

Should Be That Nourishing to the Whole Body, With Special Reference to Nervous System.

A great deal has been said about the value of certain articles as brain food, and one of the pet theories of popular physiology has been that fish and other substances composed largely of phosphorus are the most appropriate diet for brain-workers. But modern science is emphasizing that the best food for the brain is that which nourishes the whole body, with special reference to the nervous system.

Brain power is largely an expression through the nerves of bodily vitality. In discussing this point in a recent treatise, Dr. George M. Beard says that the diet of brain-workers should be of large variety, delicately served, abundantly nutritious, of which fresh meat should be a prominent constituent.

In vacations, or wherever it is desired to rest the brain, fish may, to a certain extent, take the place of meat. He says we should select those articles that are most agreeable to our individual tastes and so far as possible we should take our meal amid pleasant social surroundings.

In great crises that call for unusual exertion we should rest the stomach, that for the time the brain may work the harder, but the deficiency of nutrition ought always to be supplied in the first interval of repose.

ALL MUST BEAR THE BURDEN

Children, if They Are to Be Strong and Self-Reliant, Have to Learn That Fact.

On the lower deck of one of our river packets a little pile of pig iron was carried on the trip up the river, and when the cargo was unloaded the pig iron was not removed, but was carried again on the trip down the river. When the reason was asked, the answer was given, "She travels staidier when she carries a weight." And this is true of men and women. The world has little use for the young man or woman who has no furrow of thought, and no wrinkle of responsibility. And we are not kind to our own children when we seek continually to shield them from the hard things of life. We may wish to spare them some of our own hard experience, but if they are to be strong and self-reliant they must reach it by putting themselves under the burden, and feeling the pressure of some of the difficult things in life. You want your boy to be strong and manly; you must push him off the plank, that he may learn of himself to swim. "Every man shall bear his own burden."—Pittsburgh Christian Advocate

DAIRY FACTS

PURE-BRED SIRES ARE BEST

Selection of Herd Bull is of Greatest Importance—Avoid Contagious Abortion and Tuberculosis.

Farmers everywhere are beginning to appreciate the need for pure-bred sires. In dairying the selection of the herd bull is of the greatest importance because he is at least half the herd from the breeding point of view. His influence on the characteristics of every calf born in the herd is as great as that of the dam of the calf. If he is a pure-bred animal used on grade cows, his influence will be more than half because his transmitting powers in breed characteristics will be stronger.

No bull whose dam and paternal grand-dam were not capable of producing 300 pounds of butterfat in 365 days should be used for breeding purposes if good results are expected. It would be much better if this premium were set at 350. The prudent dairyman will select a calf from a cow which produced 400 pounds or more of butterfat.

If the use of bulls from dams and paternal grand-dams producing less than 300 pounds of fat were prohibited by state law it would be a long step in advance. Much damage has been done by unscrupulous and ignorant breeders, who have sold, for breeding purposes and at low prices, pure-bred male calves from cows which did not pay for their keep, but had a long line of pure-bred ancestry. In getting bulls from other herds be sure that they are healthy. It is especially important to avoid contagious abortion and tuberculosis. Satisfactory young bulls of breeding age cannot always be purchased easily, and therefore it is always best to have a young bull growing up to take the place of the older herd bull.

DAIRY NOTES

The tubercular cow is a menace to public health.

If you expect a cow to produce regularly she must be fed regularly.

Kindness and regularity in handling dairy animals yield profitable returns.

The cream separator is one of the necessities of the all round dairy farm.

If you are manufacturing butter the best way to sell it is to the special customer.

If we cannot get the best cows there are, let's get the best we can and then work for better.

The yield and character of a dairy cow's milk is directly influenced by the character of her surroundings.

Begin this week to dig that pit silo. You will be so pleased with results that you will dig another one next year.

The man who considers foot-and-mouth disease lightly is the very one we would expect to light his pipe in a powder factory.

It is not advisable to milk cows before calving except very heavy milkers whose udders become so distended as to cause suffering.

In handling hogs on the dairy farm the shorter the fattening period the greater the profits. Remember this and feed accordingly.

An important point to inquire about in buying a cow is the milking record of the sire's dam and you must know what she eats and what she yields. Either alone is not sufficient.

He Did Not Try It.

"Nobody but bores fight American style," said a man, as he got up from a battered piano in one of the New York trotteries. "Over in France you go up to the guy you want to flick, put your right hand on his shoulder and snap your fingers a couple of times. When he raises his hand to punch, grab his wrist. Twist it to the right and back into him, holding on. All you gotta do then is bend and toss him over your shoulder." "But suppose something goes wrong?" said one of the songsters. "Then there's the hat trick," said the speaker, impressively. "Try it on his hat brim. That gets him sore and your hand is in a good place." Whereupon the songster man guyed him. A minute later there entered a tall, wide-shouldered stranger. The man who had been to Paris spotted him. "See that big guy? Just watch me put it over on him." While the big stranger looked on in amazement the piano player flicked him once on the shoulder. The air was tense as he flicked again. Like a flash the stranger's right hand landed flush on the jaw, dropping the pianist like a sack of cement. Out of the uproar that followed came the cry from the singers: "Go on, Joe! Try the hat trick!"

Close Buying.

"Commend me to the average woman shopper for real shrewdness," says the manager of a well-known establishment. "We received a visit from one the other day that taught us something."

"She was considering the purchase of a yard of silk at 50 cents. The woman's purchase left a remnant of a yard and a half, which the salesgirl suggested that she should take."

"What'll it cost?" asked the shop per.

"Fifty cents." "I'll take it," was the prompt response, "and you may keep the yard you've torn off."—Youth's Companion.

HALL CAINE'S NOVEL PRO-DUCED IN EIGHT REELS.

FEATURING AN ALL STAR CAST:

Edith Storey, Earle Williams, Charles Kent, Donald Hall, Harry Northrup, James Lackaye and Other Members of the Vitagraph Co.

The eight-reel feature was chiefly remarkable for beauty and accuracy of treatment, for discriminating judgment and fine selective taste in all that pertains to the visualization of a story. The cast was nicely balanced and the acting of a superior character, rising to moments of intensity in the concluding scenes between Earle Williams and Edith Storey. At the end came one of Mr. Blackton's poetic touches, one of those spiritual appeals to the imagination which he developed as belonging to the art of picture production and no other medium of expression.

"The Christian" as produced in photodrama will not only be a triumph for the Vitagraph Company, but for the whole art of visualization over that of literature.

OVERTURES FROM VILLA SIDE.

Relief Transports Leave With Supplies For Starving
Civilians.

Washington, June 7.—Informal efforts—as yet without official sanction—are being made by Mexicans identified with the Villa-Zapata movements in Mexico to bring about a reconciliation with the Carranza faction with the view of establishing a government that could claim recognition by the United States.

American Red Cross officials are rapidly putting into effect their plans for relieving starving Mexican noncombatants. An army transport will leave Galveston, Tex., for Vera Cruz today with a large consignment of corn and beans for Mexico City, arrangements having been made for safe passage of the supplies through the Carranza lines.

On its return trip the transport will bring back any Americans or other foreigners who may have reached Vera Cruz from the interior and who desire to leave the country. Brigadier-General Devol, general manager of the Red Cross, has left the Texas border to direct the handling of relief supplies.

There was a disposition at both the Carranza and Villa agencies here to treat the subject of peace parleys with much caution, because neither of the representatives here professed to know how his respective chief would view the subject.

Informally, however, some Carranza officials expressed their own opinion that the efforts of the Villa elements to make peace was a confession of military failure and the coming disintegration of their movement. On the other hand in the Villa quarters it was reiterated that General Villa had from the first expressed a willingness to eliminate himself and restore peace, and that recent victories by General Angeles and others indicated that the Villa forces now had the upper hand.

To Enter Jointly.

Bulgaria and Roumania have reached a complete understanding, according to a Bucharest dispatch to the Petit Parisien. Roumania having agreed to cede territory in Dobrudja. The two countries will enter the war simultaneously, the dispatch says. Roumania against Austria and Bulgaria against Turkey. The army staffs of the two powers are said to be busy co-ordinating military plans.

Dobrudja is a part of Roumania, bounded on the east by the Black Sea and on the north and west by the Danube River. As a consequence of the second Balkan war between Bulgaria and Serbia and Greece Roumania took from Bulgaria a large slice of territory and added it to Dobrudja province on the south.

Much bitter feeling existed in Bulgaria for some time against Roumania on this account, but more recently a change in the relations between these two Balkan states was observed. Last December the Bulgarian minister at Petrograd was quoted as saying that Roumania had arranged to restore to Bulgaria that portion of Dobrudja which had been annexed by the former country after the second Balkan war, all the Pruth forms, etc.

200 ACRES IN STRAWBERRIES

Frank Fox Meeting With Great
Encouragement As Berry
Promoter.

FARMERS SIGNING UP LIVELY

Christian County Will Soon Be In Line With Warren County In Berry Culture.

Frank G. Fox, of Peter Fox Sons Co., who has started a strawberry movement for Christian county, is much encouraged by the start made yesterday. He advertised for farmers to call at his plant June 7 and 8 to sign up an agreement to engage in the cultivation of strawberries for export. A good many farmers called yesterday and showed a deep interest in the matter and signed for one or more acres. They promised to interest others and by tonight Mr. Fox expects to have at least 200 acres signed up.

The Aroma and Gandy are the best shipping berries, the Gandy being the late variety. The planting season is from Sept. 1 to Nov. 1 and Mr. Fox will make wholesale arrangements for the plants to be sold to the farmers. The plants will yield a small crop next year and a full crop the following year, after putting out a crop of runners to use in extending the area in cultivation.

Warren county has sold more strawberries this year than any other single crop produced in the county.

Christian county berries are the finest raised anywhere, as pointed out in an article in this paper last week by Mr. Geo. E. Gary.

Mr. Fox is a most enterprising citizen and is on the right track.

Fire-Blight on Fruit Trees.

(Bulletin No. 100.)

Fire blight is undoubtedly the most serious disease that confronts the Kentucky fruit grower today. San Jose scale is no longer dangerous when trees are properly sprayed. The aphid is easily controlled, as are all the other greatly feared troubles of the past. After all the other orchard troubles have been successfully met and conquered, it is very discouraging to see a promising crop of fruit ruined in a short time. In fact blight has been termed the great black plague of the fruit industry. It has been estimated that it carries an annual loss of $25,000,000 to the country.

Blight is a preventable disease, and in view of the tremendous losses occasioned by it, a systematic effort should be made to check it.

Pears and apples are more subject to attack than are any of the other fruits. In fact, the writer would not urge the planting of commercial orchards in Kentucky for the time being until more definite means of control have been worked out. Certain varieties of apples are more susceptible than others and it is well for a grower to consider this point in making an extensive planting.

Blight is caused by a minute germ organism that lives during the dormant season in cankers, resulting from infection the previous seasons. These cankers are formed at the base of the fruit spurs, on the larger limbs and trunk of the tree. Every fruit grower should acquaint himself with the appearance of the canker and destroy it as soon as noticed. If every canker could be disposed of, blight could be held in control.

Blight usually appears shortly after the blossoms period and is first noticed when the blossoms and tips begin to wilt and blacken. Often the tips of the branches only are affected. In other instances it may extend down the twig or branch, killing it as it progresses. The twigs and leaves appear as if they had been scorched by fire, hence the term fire blight.

It is almost impossible to cut out all the diseased twigs of a badly blighted tree during the growing season. Fire blight is a problem involving the community, hence an organized endeavor should be made to check it. Learn to recognize the disease in its various stages, clean up the orchard and encourage your neighbor to do the same thing.

Do not be misled regarding the so-called "blight-cures." There is no patent cure and no one should ever attempt to cure blight by spraying, inoculation or soil doctoring. Insects, particularly aphids and ants, spread blight. Use the sprays against these if necessary.

INTEREST EVINCED IN DIXIE BEE LINE ROAD

Officials of Towns in Kentucky
Enthusiastic Over Proposed Highway.

Evansville, Ind., June 7.—John C. Keller, secretary of the Evansville Business association, and known as the "father of the Dixie Bee Line Highway," and Mayor Benjamin Bosse received letters from mayors and city officials at Hopkinsville, Ky., Trenton, Ky., and Elkton, Ky., and other cities along the proposed route of the Dixie Bee Line Highway. The officials expressed enthusiasm over the plan and want to boost it along all they can. Mayor Yost of Hopkinsville gave some valuable information concerning the roads in that section of Kentucky, and he stated that all the people in that section of the state will work hard to make the proposed highway a sure go. It is hoped to decide upon an official route in a few weeks.

M'CHESNEY YESTERDAY

Spoke In The Interest of His Candidacy for Gubernatorial Nomination.

PROHIBITION TO THE FRONT.

Most of His Address Devoted To His Chosen Issue—
Good Crowd.

Hon. Harry V. McChesney, candidate for governor, before the Democratic primary, spoke at the Court House yesterday afternoon, in the interest of his candidacy. Circuit court adjourned and the court room was well filled with an audience that included many ladies.

Mr. McChesney devoted most of his speech to the issue upon which he is making his race, that of statewide prohibition to be submitted to a vote of the people of Kentucky. The speech was the same that has been made elsewhere and frequently reported in the state papers.

Nearly 300 persons were present when the speaker was introduced by Judge Knight and probably 100 more came in during the progress of his speech.

Mr. McChesney told one or two jokes, gave a sketch of his political career and then turned his attention to the liquor question. He said the Liquor Trust was fighting him and spending money to beat him. He said this would be their last chance, as the State would be dry by another election in 1919. He said he was a friend to schools, good roads and agriculture, but his time only permitted him to discuss one question in detail. He denied that a vote for him was a vote for state-wide prohibition, as the earliest opportunity to vote for state-wide direct was in Nov. 1917. What he favored was to let the people vote on it. One of his opponents was non-committal and two were opposed to letting them vote, while another held to his view.

He opposed a convention, which he said was advocated by newspapers under the influence of the liquor trust. He said there never was a convention before a primary, that the primary law made conventions unnecessary and the same people who nominated a candidate made his platform, if they knew what he stood for.

That 2,000 conventions would be held at 2,000 precincts August 7 and if he was nominated he would need no other platform than the will of the people.

Mr. McChesney was given a courteous hearing throughout. He spoke at Pembroke last night.

THE DEVIL AND THE CHURCH.

In the photo play "The Christian," which is presented to-day under the management of The Vitagraph-Liebler Company, at The Princess, one of the photo incidents of the drama reveals the betrayal of a woman's love by Lord Robert Ure. His subsequent marriage to a rich young woman, by Archdeacon Wealthy, a minister of the ultrafashionable type, is destroyed by the wife's discovery of his treachery. She confronts him, with the baby in her arms, of the girl he has betrayed. She does so in the presence of Archdeacon Wealthy, and her mother. It has been said, right along, that "The Christian" in photo drama, is the best acting film in existence. The dramatic moment in the play, just described, as shown in the moving picture, fully sustains this statement. Do not forget to enjoy, and fully learn the lesson which this situation gives you. In facial expression, the dramatic tension of this moment, when the Devil and the Church meet face to face, is admirably portrayed by Mr. Harry Northrup, as Lord Robert Ure, Mr. James Lackaye, as Archdeacon Wealthy, Miss Alberta Gallatin, as Mrs. MacCae, and Miss Jane Fernley, as her daughter Vera.

Leprosy In Tennessee.

The first case of leprosy that ever lived in Tennessee has been found by the state board of health. The leper was at once deported to the famous leper colony of Louisiana. The board announces there is no possible danger of the spread of the disease. The victim of the world's rarest and oldest disease was Curley Nickel, a 17-year-old boy, living with his aunt at Slayden, Dickson county, Tenn., which is within fifty miles of Nashville. The first phalanx of the boy's fingers and toes were wasted by the dread disease and his body bore its marks.

Inquiry by the physicians elicited the information that Nickel came to Tennessee only two years ago. His home was the little town of LaFayette, in Lafayette parish, Louisiana. This is not far distant from the leper colony and the doctors assert that he contracted the disease in Louisiana and not in Tennessee.—Tennessean.
